A TOUCHING SCENE—THE TRUCE BETWEEN GRANT AND LEE.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Times, referring to the hostilities between Grant and Lee, just before Lee's surrender, says:

I know not why it was, but the moment the firing ceased on that eventful morning, both armies seemed instinctively to realize that the last hostile shot had been fired, the last life had been taken, and that the peace long hoped for had at last come to be a reality. The cessation of hostilities was sudden and unexpected in both armies—as abrupt as the snapping of a violin string while an artist is executing a difficult bar of music. As the words "cease firing" were passed along the lines—"a flag of truce!"—both armies commenced cheering, and the different bands almost simultaneously played pieces peculiarly suited to the occasion, music that made brave men sink to the earth, their eyes suffused with tears, their hearts too full of gladness to find relief in words. Scores of men unused to the melting mood thus found relief. Rough sunburnt men embraced each other, and there was a mingling of the two armies as if composed of elements always congenial. No one of the vast throng knew that Lee proposed to surrender—it was only known that a flag of truce had caused a cessation of hostilities; and yet, instinctively, every man in the two immense armies felt that they were enemies no longer. It was a scene bordering upon the supernatural—Godlike in its impressions upon those present, which time can never efface. For a long time I wandered about, looking at both armies, in doubt whether what I saw was a veritable reality or only a pleasing illusion, to be dispelled the next moment by whizzing bullets and screeching shells. Never before did I feel so tempted to pinch myself to ascertain whether I was only a mortal or a spirit—a doubt of the reality making me quite nervous, and the unusual stillness painful to hear. At this moment the bands commenced playing (what seemed to be almost heavenly strains) Old Hundred, and I am not ashamed to say that thousands of hearts on that hill at that moment were overcome by emotions more powerful than ever felt before. Like a flash, a panoramic view of the whole national struggle passed through my excited brain. The commencement; the dark, dark hours; the final triumph; the brilliant future for the country, clouded by a thought of those who had fallen in the struggle; the homes made desolate, and involuntarily men commenced singing Praise God from whom all blessings flow, with significance never so fully felt.

THE INDIANAPOLIS CONDEMNED.—WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Indiana delegation who arrived here last night, called on President Johnson this morning, to urge a commutation of the sentence of death in the case of Bowles, Milligan and Horsey, sentenced to be hung on Friday, and asked that they may be turned over to civil Courts for trial on charges against them. The want of jurisdiction of the Military Commission which tried them is mainly urged as the ground why the sentence should be commuted. President Johnson gave no positive answer, but it is generally believed that he gave orders for the sentence to be executed, and is adverse to change it. The matter is still in progress, and the delegation will have another interview with the President.

Recent information by telegraph is to the effect that the President has either commuted the sentence or granted the culprits further time before their execution.

A COMPLETE HISTORY.—Thomas S. Townsend, of New York, commenced at the beginning of the war to collate, arrange, classify, journalize and index every scrap of information attainable respecting it. By laboring assiduously, sometimes as long as nine hours a day, he has completed the work down to the surrender of Lee's army, in fifty-three massive volumes, which form by far the most comprehensive cyclopedia of the Great Rebellion in existence.

Mr. Lincoln's grandfather, also named Abraham Lincoln, was murdered by an Indian in 1744, while at work on his farm, near the Kentucky river. He left three sons, the oldest of whom, Thomas, was the father of the President.

Communication with the Mines

Of late much has been said and written of our northern mines. Considerable investments have been made there by our people and the attention of Eastern capitalists is now being drawn to this field. It is no cause of surprise that enterprising California should seize with avidity this new opportunity. That State has been steadily rising in wealth for some years past, and it is a credit to its people that they are possessed of sufficient energy to make an effort to cause it to recuperate. In competing for the trade of the mining regions of the Columbia river, Oregon on her side, has the natural advantages. We must own, however, that California has so far shown the greater energy. Until a period within the last few years, Oregon has been solely a farming country, subject to none of those influences which stimulate the energies of a people and incite them to take the lead in engaging in commercial enterprises. Hence the reason why Californians have a quicker perception than ourselves of what is necessary to be done to cause a country to prosper. Hence also the reason why they accomplish a thing before we fairly begin to work upon it.

For the present, however, the object of our inquiries is to ascertain and to show what advantages the route to the mines by way of the Columbia river has over any other. Let any one who has not considered this matter look at the map and it will be found that the rich mines of Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and a part of British Columbia, commencing at John Day's river beyond the Dalles and extending to Boise and Owyhee on the South, to the Beaver Head, Big Hole and and Prickly Pear districts on the east and to Kootenai on the north, are all contiguous to the trade of the Columbia river. After the first of July freight will be delivered at Umatilla and Wallula from San Francisco at two cents per pound. The reduction to be made on the Columbia river boats will be very considerable. From Umatilla and Wallula to Idaho City and Owyhee, the distance is not to exceed two hundred and seventy miles. There is a good wagon road the whole way. For more than twenty years this route has been traveled by immigrants and others, and it is altogether ridiculous to say as some do who seem to be paid for misrepresentation, that loaded wagons have difficulty in passing over it.

Comparing this route with that by way of Red Bluff and Chico, we see on which side the advantage lies. The distance from the latter place to Idaho City by an air line is four hundred and sixty eight miles. The distance necessary to be traveled in going from one of these places to the other, can not be less than five hundred and fifty miles. Here we have by the Columbia river route only two hundred and seventy miles of land travel, against much more than five hundred by way of Red Bluff. The cost of water transportation is but a trifling part of the sum that is to be paid on goods from San Francisco to the mines. Putting the charges on freight from San Francisco to Umatilla or Wallula, as an offset against those from San Francisco to Red Bluff—and the difference will certainly not be great—and then we have the expenses of two miles carriage by the Red Bluff route to those of one mile by the road from the Columbia river to the mines.

Oregon can have no competition for the trade of all the mining districts north of Boise. Freight to Lewiston will shortly cost a sum much less than has heretofore been paid. It will accord with the interests of all to look to it that transportation shall be as cheap as possible. A concert of action among all for that purpose will secure to our people a rich and growing trade.

IDAHO VIA CHICO.—The Sacramento Union of the 4th says that a party had just reached Chico in thirteen days from Ruby City, Owyhee. They traveled part of the way by saddle trains, the remainder of the distance by stage. This indicates to us that thirteen days is about the shortest time in which the trip can be made. The Union, however, says "it is calculated that the trip can soon be made from San Francisco to Idaho City in eighty-four hours." Now, two days is the length of time required from San Francisco to Chico. Even the fast Californians will find it difficult, we think, to go from the latter place to Idaho City—a distance of not less than five hundred miles—during the remaining thirty six hours. The Union says, further, that the arrangement mentioned "will possess great advantages over the old route via Portland." We do not regard this statement as correct, for reason that it will certainly be much easier to travel by water to a proper starting point on the Columbia river and go thence by stage to the mines by a land route not half so long as that from Chico, than to traverse the deserts that lie between the last named place and Idaho City. On the Oregon route there are settlements the whole way to the mines. Grain is sold along the road for so much less price than that for which it could be carried to the stations between Chico and Idaho. As to time, that route has never yet been able to compete with this, and we do not think it ever can.

THE RECONSTRUCTION POLICY.—On the 10th of May, the President issued a proclamation which put in operation the suspended functions of the National Government in the State of Virginia. It is understood that the plan adopted was in accordance with the views Mr. Lincoln held on the subject. Virginia is not recognized as ever having gone out of the Union; the functions of the United States Government are considered to have been merely suspended within her borders; the rebel State Government is wholly disregarded, and Gov. Pierpont and the loyal Legislature are considered the legally constituted authorities of the State. In this manner, treason [illegible] not receive the slightest recognition. The rebel Government is regarded as having been nothing more than a usurpation with no authority to act for the people. By having taken this course, the Government will not be thought by the Southern people to have conquered them, but rather to have delivered them from the rule of a usurping and unscrupulous dynasty. Our triumph is to [illegible] their subjugation. By it they are [illegible] the same state of freedom which the people of the North enjoy. We have gained a victory for them and ourselves. In sustaining the integrity of the nation we have wrought out their deliverance.

A TRUTH.—There is a volume of political philosophy in the following remark from the New York Tribune: "Assassination has rarely been followed by revolution, because it naturally turns the minds of [illegible] the necessity of law and value of order."

It is said that the Bull Run battlefield is likely to be selected for the grand review of our armies. It would be a most fitting act to have the Fourth of July grandly celebrated there.

The Coeur d'Alene Mines

WALLA WALLA, June 12th, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Having seen editorials in different papers, relative to the mines of the Coeur d'Alene, I will give you a short description of my trip to that country, from whence I have just returned. I left Walla Walla on the 23d of April last heading a party of four men, with the intention of prospecting the head waters of the Coeur d'Alene.—After considerable hardship, we arrived at the Mission. On the trip we passed over a considerable depth of snow. From the Mission, we followed up the river about thirty five miles, in a north and easterly direction, and came into a large basin. The country afforded many indications of gold. We prospected to some extent and ascertained that the dirt would pay about one ounce per day. The gold is in round particles and quite heavy. All we obtained is coarse. The bed-rock is of slate. If the mines in the basin prove as extensive as I think they will, there will be employment for about 20,000 men. Besides, there is gold in different other places near by.

As regards the route by which these mines may be reached, the most practicable way is by the Mullan road from Walla Walla. Parties at Lewiston are contending that it is nearer to take their route. Marking out a road with a pencil is a different thing from traveling it after it is so made. The trail which leads to the Coeur d'Alene from Lewiston, crosses the St Jo. river and valley, and it is out of the question to pass over that valley until September, as there are a great many sloughs in it. So much about the route.

As soon as I arrive in the basin, I will send you by the Bitter Root express, all the information I can gather about the mines.

Yours &c. CHAS WILSON.

FROM WALLA WALLA.—From a letter written by our correspondent "Ajax" at Walla Walla, under date of June 11th, we take the following extracts. Our space is too limited to enable us to print his letter in full.

We learn to-day that semi-official intelligence just received from Colville valley indicate an almost unanimous vote at the election June 5th, in favor of the Union ticket. Returns have also been received from the various county precincts, &c., which footed up, show a small majority for Tilton as Delegate, Dugan for Councilman over Cox (Union) four Democratic Representatives, Lee, McAuliff, Mix, Lloyd, and one Union Representative, B. N. Sexton, our popular and efficient County Court Clerk. Fargo beats Cain for Prosecuting Attorney.

The stir and excitement, which has been rife here for the past two weeks in consequence of the discovery of gold in the Coeur d'Alene Basin is on the increase this week. Merchants and traders generally are kept very busy outfitting crowds on their way to those mines. Quite a number of our best citizens are making up a party to leave for Coeur d'Alene ward the last of this week. Any number of pack trains are departing daily for the Kootenai, Eagle Creek and Boise camps.

OUR QUARTZ MINES.—One of the greatest advantages the mines of Idaho have over those of Nevada, and many of those of California, is the fact that they may be much less expensively work than those. In almost every instance so far we have heard, the precious metals are unmixed with the various base alloys, so that no expensive roasting or other process is necessary to be resorted to to work them up to the largest practicable yield. Arsenic, antimony and sulphur are almost unknown and we have nothing but to crush the rock and amalgamate by the simplest process to obtain the best practical working results. This is not the case elsewhere, and this difference in favor of our own mines is an item that ought not to be overlooked by those who are making permanent investments. In a locality so far removed from shops and manufactories, and from any seaport or navigable water it is of great importance to the miner whether he can erect the simplest kind of crushing and amalgamating machinery, and begin to realize from his work or whether he must be subjected to all the vexations and expensive delays attendant upon experimenting and reducing refractory ores. The working of the one is attended so far as the experience of our miners goes, with almost unvarying success, while the other has been attended with years of discouragement. These ideas are not thrown out with a view to disparage the claims of any other mines to public favor, but only to set forth the [illegible] in regard to our own.—Idaho Statesman.

FROM ROCK CREEK, OREGON.—This creek runs within three or four miles of Camp Watson, where two companies of troops are stationed. On this creek gold placers have been found, and a larger company [illegible] the conveyance of water [illegible] that their enterprise will be a profitable one. Quartz lodes have been found which promise well. This region is about one hundred and sixty miles from the Dalles, and easily reached by stage or other conveyance. [illegible] good diggings will be found in many localities on Rock Creek, and on [illegible] Day's river, [illegible] which length.

[illegible] A great excitement [illegible] rich prospects that were found [illegible] [illegible] east side [illegible] Some [illegible] the new diggings.—Walla Walla [illegible]

The Dalles papers say that there are the mines [illegible] [illegible] that time. [illegible] the [illegible] every [illegible] and there is [illegible]

[illegible] MINES.—[illegible] mines situated about [illegible] miles from Idaho City [illegible] spring, and [illegible] Mammoth ledge [illegible] an average of [illegible] which also [illegible] the [illegible] company [illegible] equally as [illegible] not better than the Mammoth. We understand that these three ledges have lately come into the possession of Messrs. Bibb & Jackson of Idaho City and Humason of the Dalles, Oregon, and in addition to the mill already running they have an eight or eight-stamp mill on their [illegible] to arrive in about twenty days.—Idaho Statesman.

[illegible] Mason. [illegible] Secretary Stanton [illegible] the murder of the President [illegible] Richmond has deeply [illegible] [illegible] women who [illegible] and many [illegible] who are still living [illegible] an appearance of good character [illegible] the world. Mason, the so called Minister [illegible] in England has also written a letter [illegible] ing on the part of the rebel Government all [illegible] [illegible] much [illegible] [illegible] all [illegible] complicity in the affair [illegible] [illegible] than [illegible] The London Daily News thus analyzes Mason's letter and shows its latent meaning:

The object in stating is only to repel a calumny. We shall presently see whether his letter is of a defensive or an aggressive character. One thing will strike every reader of it. Mason has not a single word of regret for the death of Lincoln. In this respect his letter is unique among the compositions of various kinds that have been published on the subject during the last few days. Stephen [illegible] has mistakenly connected Lincoln's assassination with the [illegible] rebellion, at least fell into the error in stating [illegible] a person in his situation [illegible] by Mason [illegible] [illegible] He has [illegible] that the [illegible] which he deemed would be the [illegible] to the country. This is an [illegible] [illegible] but it is weak and pointless compared with what more lately follows. Mason correctly observes that the assassination of Lincoln could not aid the rebel cause. The same however was truly said of the Lake Erie piracies and the St Albans raids which Davis acknowledged and also of the firing of New York hotels which one of the perpetrators of that deed confessed. Having by this reflection, as he supposed, disconnected the partisans of secession from the murder of Lincoln, Mason proceeds to point out that the parties who stood in a position to profit by the removal of the late President were Johnson and Stanton who could not carry their schemes of plunder and rapine into effect at the South while Lincoln remained at the head of affairs. It is in this [illegible] way that Mason pays the only tribute to Lincoln's memory which his letter contains. The late President has been murdered and the new President gains by it. This is how Mason states and leaves the matter, and it would have been difficult to carry insinuation farther. But how in the name of logic does [illegible] in the following sentence at the conclusion that the crime is "the necessary offspring of those scenes of [illegible] and murder which have signalized the invasion of the South by Northern armies." If the assassination of Lincoln was a necessary [illegible] of the war prosecuted in Southern States by the North, then it follows that the real murderer is some [illegible] Southerner. It is not we who say this; we merely point out the inevitable conclusion of Mason's argument.

Let us understand what this doctrine of a "necessary" consequence means, to affirm of any act of an intelligent, free and accountable agent, that it is necessary is to declare that it is justifiable. Four years ago in the judgment of the Southern leaders it was necessary that if beaten at the ballot box, they should take up the sword. Having appealed to the sword, and again lost their cause, we are now told that assassination is necessary. We see here the same ungovernable temper, the same perverse willfulness, which is everywhere bred of slavery, which rejects every kind of arbitrament which led Davis as we saw yesterday, to pour contempt on [illegible] constitutional warfare and to declare his preference for a bloody fight and which now refuses to abide the issue of that chosen appeal. Englishmen know how to honor fidelity to principle, constancy in effort, fortitude in adversity, but they also know how to distinguish these from malice, bad temper and the passion which make all government and all society impossible, and which they by no means consider "necessary."

McDOWELL ON SHERMAN.—At the reunion of Alumni in the College of California, at Oakland, last Tuesday, a toast given to "The Army" brought Gen McDowell to his feet. After a few jocose introductory remarks, he spoke of the great army of the United States, "Black and White," and said it had proved itself the greatest army of ancient or modern times—greatest not only in numbers, but in the greatness of the work it had been called on to do. He spoke of the difficulties attending the Government at the opening of the war, few of the men at the head of civil affairs knew the military men of the nation, or were known by them, which from his own experience he knew to have been highly embarrassing and injurious to the service. The ignorance and experience of officers, too, was so great that even Gen. Sherman hesitated to take command of a regiment. He had since that time attracted the admiration of the world, and although he could not make a bargain, yet no more loyal or deserving man ever lived in this country. He could not forbear to say thus much in favor of Sherman, since people were inclined to forget his merits in view of the fact that he forgot or failed to do what was expected of him at the close. The Army of the United States did not inaugurate this rebellion, but the army put it down. It was well to bear this always in mind, in view of the frequently expressed fear that the military arm of the Government was dangerous to the liberties of the people. It had been said that slavery was the rock on which our Government would split.—Well we had at last struck the rock, but it was the rock that split and not the Government. The rock was not only split but ground into powder.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The old North State seems to be wheeling back into the Union in good earnest. Large and enthusiastic Union meetings have been held in Goldsboro, Snow Hill, Kinston, Faithfield, Wilson and many other places. Prominent men in all the counties are taking an active part in this movement, and the leading papers of the State are heartily supporting it. The decision of the Government not to recognize Governor Vance is generally approved by the Unionists. W. W. Holden, the editor of the Raleigh Standard, seems to be selected by the majority of the Unionists as their candidate for Governor. The discussion of slavery is not avoided in the Union papers and meetings; but the Standard, the chief organ of the Unionists, declares that it regards the question as settled, that the institution of slavery is gone, that it could not save the institution if it would. It is safe to say that this view will be generally concurred in by the party, and there is good reason for hoping that gradually the anti-slavery sentiment may also increase in strength, and that North Carolina, on the meeting of its convention, will follow the example of Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri, Tennessee and Louisiana and adopt the Constitutional Amendment, abolishing slavery.—N. Y. Tribune.

FROM BOISE CITY.—We have the following intelligence from Boise City, by a letter under the date of June [illegible]th:

Local news is a scarce article at this place. Business appears to be dull, and there is a large portion of the population who seem to have nothing to do. There is a good deal of destitution [illegible] [illegible] the country [illegible] a livelihood to all the people [illegible] Those persons who have quartz interests [illegible] a very large amount [illegible] will be extracted from the quartz lodes of the [illegible] during the next twelve months. Common Council Proceedings.—[illegible] meeting of the Common Council was held in the Chamber last evening, Mayor Failing presiding.

The following members were present: Messrs. Bennett, Cook, Frazar, Gilmore, [illegible], McCraken, [illegible], Starr.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mayor Failing returned ordinance No. 178 unapproved, regarding [illegible] for alterations. On a vote to pass the [illegible], it was lost.

[illegible] asking for a part of Portland [illegible] to be used in the removal of the building known as the Franklin Book Store, was granted for fifteen days.

Messrs. Goodwin, Phillips and White, owners of property who had signed a petition in reference to grade of A street, reported that they had signed it understandingly, and asked to withdraw their names from the same, which was granted.

Messrs. Estes, Pennoyer, Clark and Stimson, owners of property affected, petitioned for a change of grade at the intersection of Alder with [illegible] Park streets, which was referred to the Committee on streets and public property.

Messrs. A. C. Ripley and others, owners of property [illegible], petitioned for a change of grade on Stark, Fifth, Sixth, Oak and Pine streets; was referred to the same Committee.

Messrs. Morgan, Estes and others, owners of property affected, submitted a remonstrance to the change of grade at the intersection of [illegible] and Seventh streets, which was referred to the committee.

[illegible] for change of grades on Columbia, First and Jefferson streets, signed by six owners of property affected, was referred to the committee.

The committee on ways and means submitted a report accompanied by an ordinance making an appropriation of money to assist in defraying the expenses of the celebration of the Fourth of July. The report was accepted, and in the regular order of business the ordinance passed the second time, appropriating $1,000.

The committee on fire and water reported in relation to the cisterns of First street, and a resolution authorizing the Street Commissioner to make the necessary repairs at a cost of $26. The report and resolution adopted.

The committee submitted a similar report in reference to repairs of Engine [illegible], authorizing the Chief Engineer to cause the same to be done at a cost not exceeding $40. [illegible] was adopted.

Committee on streets and public property, on the petition of Messrs. [illegible] and others, relative to a change of grade on [illegible] and other streets, and recommended an ordinance relative to the proposed change. The report was adopted.

The committee reported an estimate of the cost of improving Front street from the south line of Pine street to the north line of Morrison street, with a carefully prepared statement of the parts of lots, and recommended that the amounts be assessed to each, as specified on the list accompanying the same. The report was adopted, and in the regular order, an ordinance declaring the cost as estimated, and authorizing the assessment to be made and entered on the docket of city liens, as provided by Section 68 of the charter, passed the second reading.

In accordance with a previous resolution of the Council, Mr. Meeker, City Auditor and Clerk of the Board, presented a very elaborate report of the operations of his office, by giving the receipts and expenditures of the city, since the beginning of the present administration, April, 1864, from which it appears that the total revenue of the city has been $70,644 34. Of this amount the sum of [illegible] 98 has been paid on the indebtedness of former Councils. The report is the best of the kind that has ever been made since the incorporation of the city. By it a deficit of $18,092 05 appears to have existed April 19th, 1864. Up to the [illegible] day of the present month, after paying [illegible] of the city government for the current year, there appears a balance in the treasury of [illegible] 90.

After discussion the report was adopted, and a detailed statement of the same was ordered to be published, in connection with the [illegible] showing the amount collected, the amount [illegible], and the taxes levied.

The petition of Dr. W. N. Griswold, for attendance on an orphan boy, whose remaining parent [illegible] is insane and confined in the asylum, was referred to the health committee.

The following ordinances were passed:

[illegible] to change the grade of portions of Columbia, Jefferson and Front streets.

[illegible] authorizing the committee [illegible] public property, to contract for the improvement of Front street from Morrison to [illegible], in manner as provided by ordinance No. 100.

[illegible] defining the time and manner of [illegible] Front street, between Morrison and [illegible]. Provides for the Nicholson pavement, to be completed by the 15th day of October, [illegible]

The following ordinances were read a first and [illegible] time:

[illegible] to repeal an ordinance, providing for the appointment of deputy City Marshals.

[illegible] appropriating money to assist in defraying the expenses of celebrating the Fourth of July, 1865, in the City of Portland.

[illegible] to amend ordinance No. 167 defining the duties and providing for compensation of the [illegible] Attorney, reducing the salary from $1,000 [illegible] per annum.

[illegible] to amend ordinance No. 167 defining the duties and providing for the compensation of [illegible] Treasurer, reducing the salary from [illegible] to $1,400 per annum.

An ordinance relating to the bonds of the City [illegible]

An ordinance providing for the inspection of the books of the City Treasurer, and the safe keeping of the public money.

An ordinance to amend ordinance No. 117 defining the duties and providing for the compensation of City Auditor and Clerk, reducing salary from $1,800 to $1,200 per annum.

An ordinance providing for the removal [illegible] the erection of cross signs and awnings [illegible] on the streets and side walks of the city.

The city Auditor was instructed to draw warrants on the appropriate fund for the amount of [illegible], in favor of D. Monastes, that amount being now due him, on contract for the construction of [illegible]

[illegible] the Council adjourned.

[illegible] of June.—To day is the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill. WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, June 19th, 1865.

Trade in general remains much the same as for [illegible] weeks past. [illegible] dealers [illegible] but little [illegible] report.

Our merchants all have the most complete stocks that have ever been [illegible] the first days of [illegible]

Produce is languid. We hear of very small shipments lately. The Sierra Nevada just arrived from San Francisco took from Springfield 500 sks of wheat and 200 sacks of flour, which is the bulk of produce shipments [illegible] May 20th. [illegible]

The schooner [illegible] cleared Monday last for New Westminster [illegible] the amount of flour is valued at $13,000, which is all the exporting done since our last review.

From [illegible] country there is literally nothing going forward. [illegible] full. There [illegible] varieties of domestic produce. It is a [illegible] difficult matter to fill orders in that line during the week for points East of the Cascades, owing to the great scarcity in the market.

The markets of California are more inactive than those [illegible]. It is said that [illegible] except in avoiding very little business.

Our gold producing sections continue to turn out [illegible] that have ever been brought forth since the palmiest days of California, and with this fact [illegible] is somewhat surprising, that we are not [illegible] in relation to our commercial, mercantile and financial [illegible] There is a want of a [illegible] about a healthier [illegible] Thinking the matter over.

[illegible] It is thought that, notwithstanding all efforts, the amount of currency afloat at this moment is largely in excess of the real wants of the country, and the Bulletin says its curtailment will form one of the most delicate and difficult problems ever offered to financial statesmanship in this country; and the progress towards a resumption of specie payments may probably be attended by spasms in the money markets, the anticipation of which should inspire business men with the determination to keep out of debt, and, as far as possible, to adjust their engagements so as to be able to trade on a [illegible] cash basis.

A circular from one of the leading [illegible] houses of San Francisco has been received, stating that by a combination of the dealers there, no sales will hereafter be made on longer time than 60 days, beyond which the legal rates of interest will be charged. This, it may be presumed, is the beginning of the cash system soon to be adopted in all the branches of trade.

The Mining Stock market still remains without any decided improvement; the only transactions before the Stock and Exchange Board being in Legal Tender Notes which have depreciated materially, closing to-day in bids of [illegible] cts. There is no definite reason assigned for the increase in the price of gold, and we infer that it is in consequence of speculations in San Francisco, incident to the interruption of telegraphic communication with the East.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, June 19th, 1865.

Considerable inquiry is manifested in some branches of the Jobbing trade, but for the most part business is inactive.

The receipts of domestic produce have continued light, and from the Upper Willamette we learn there is very little to come forward, still the quantity on hand is much larger in the Commission houses than we had anticipated at this advanced season.

Some [illegible] of Potatoes has existed during the past few days and sales are noted at $1 60 ℔ bushel, for shipment to Dalles and Lewiston, but the ruling rates remain unchanged.

Sales of 300 boxes Eggs, at 30 cents, also for shipment to the upper Columbia regions, are reported. The supply on the market at this time [illegible] The ruling [illegible] Buyers are offering the rates quoted below [illegible] Wheat and Oats. There is no Barley in market. Secretary Seward—His Views—Frederick Seward—The Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, May 20th.—You will be glad to know that the sanguine reports of Surgeon General Barnes concerning Secretary Seward are fully [illegible]. He is recovering [illegible] rapidly. Indeed, his general system is as [illegible] as ever. His wounds do not pain him now, and the gashes [illegible] have healed. Owing to [illegible] the bones of his jaw [illegible] was caused by the [illegible] assault [illegible] has been slow and is still imperfect. [illegible] he wears the [illegible] which is kept in place [illegible] week, and is getting used to it [illegible]. At first it prevented his sleeping, so that he gained very little strength and grew nervous, but he can now sleep soundly with it, and only [illegible] as an inconvenience and annoyance. [illegible] two or three large articles kept in a fixed position within his mouth, it of course interferes somewhat with his articulation, and as it prevents him from taking any food except in a liquid form, fed to him in a tea[illegible], it is scarcely to be expected that he should gain strength very rapidly. Nevertheless he talks a great deal, walks about the house, goes up and down stairs without assistance, and takes long rides without much fatigue. [illegible] with him over two hours on Monday, under the hot sun of [illegible] day, across the Anacosta bridge and over the rough roads of the Maryland side of the Potomac, and I think I was more fatigued when we returned than he was.

Seward talks freely of the assassination and of all its circumstances and antecedents. I do not think he was in the least surprised at it. Indeed, he has more than once within the last two years told me that we should never emerge from this war without political assassination. They might be attempted in the hope of aiding the rebellion, or for the purpose of revenging its defeat, but they were morally certain to come. For his own part, I know that he had made his personal arrangements with a view to the possibility of such a close of his own career. He was never insensible of the extent to which the great body of the slaveholding oligarchy held him responsible for the political and moral changes which prompted the rebellion. And I may as well add that they knew much better than some of our own people the fact that from the very beginning of this war to its end his counsel and advice have always been for the boldest and most vigorous measures for its prosecution.

Seward talks very freely of public affairs. He has now, as he always has since he knew him in the Senate, the profoundest confidence in Andrew Johnson. It was very easy, he said, to tell in the Senate by their tone and bearing, what men were fitted for public service in time of revolution, and what men were not; and he never had a moment's doubt concerning Johnson.

Seward, as yet, has taken no part, since the assault upon him, in public affairs, though he has supervised, to a certain extent, the action of the State Department; but I think that unless something should retard the knitting together of the bones of his jaw, he will, at the end of two or three weeks, be fully competent for its highest duties. And I am also confident that President Johnson has never, for a moment, thought of placing those duties in any other hands.

Of Frederick Seward's prospective recovery, I cannot speak with so much confidence. He is not yet considered by his surgeons out of danger, though there is a perceptible improvement in his condition. It seems that one of the blows from the pistol in the assassin's hand ruptured a blood vessel lying along the upper surface of the brain, where it was impossible to use the ordinary appliances of surgery. The bleeding was stopped, therefore, with the finger until a coagulation of the blood served the same purpose, and the aim of the surgeons now is to keep it in this condition until the ruptured artery heals. It has given way once or twice already, but success is hoped for still. He is perfectly conscious and can talk, but he is not allowed to speak at all, nor to move, and all visitors are rigidly excluded. It is hoped that with this perfect quiet, and nothing whatever to accelerate the circulation, the requisite healing may take place.

It has already been stated that the person known as Paine, has confessed the attempt upon Seward's life. He says that he had never seen him, that he had nothing against him, and that he attempted to kill him only, because he had sworn to do it. The whole affair, he has said, was a gigantic failure—only two (Booth and himself) of the whole number concerned, having kept their oaths. If it had succeeded, he says, the actors in it would never have been known. This seems at first sight inconsistent with the open exposure of himself by Booth, after the assassination of Lincoln. But I have been told that it was part of the plan to turn off the gas in the theatre the instant the pistol shot was heard, and that the man was found at the controlling stop cock to whom that duty had been assigned, but that he failed to hear the signal. Paine is not at all communicative. He refuses to disclose the names of his associates, or to say anything of his own antecedents. It is not believed that he has given his real name, nor is it known to what part of the country he belongs. He looks young, not over twenty one or two; has a square, hard face, a clear, firm eye, which returns even now unflinchingly, the steadiest and sternest gaze; is very athletic in his frame; has white, soft hands, evidently unused to work, and although utterly unmoved by threats, or by harshness, gives indications of sensibility to acts and words of kindness. He is a man of more than ordinary mark. He says that when he fell from Seward's room he knew that he had failed, and expected to find the hall below full of men, summoned by the cries of murder raised by the colored boy who had rushed into the street, which cries he himself had distinctly heard. But he was prepared and determined to cut his way through them all, and was surprised to find himself unopposed.—N. Y. Times.

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Messrs. Tilton & McFarland,

[illegible] Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: [illegible] made by Mr. Lillie [illegible]

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which [illegible] buildings and [illegible] with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible. [illegible] [illegible] Having the curiosity to look [illegible] our neighbors [illegible] in this fire, we called [illegible] [illegible] just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S) [illegible] were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK[illegible]'s cellar—such as [illegible], pork, [illegible], their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire [illegible] no better than ours.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

(Signed) GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, &c. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals in Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London were among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Canal Place, Paddington; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charing Cross, Agar street, Strand; [illegible] Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton, of London, Parker, of Birmingham, England, and Ricord, of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying [illegible] that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any dangerous drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Weakness, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained [illegible] [illegible] immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. For Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
